I looked through Doug and Dan's comments, and agree with many. I also made my own responses to some of them (all as comments as opposed to changes to text, to help you find them). See attached.

Carolyn: Let us know if you have any questions, etc. when pulling together our comments, edits, etc. We're here to help! My "To Do" list is pretty flexible today if anything needs to be discussed.

Eva,

As Eleanor mentioned, your analysis is very thorough. In the attached .doc I added some additional comments to Eleanor's version. Note that I haven't looked at the historical data with anywhere close to the detail that you have, especially information preceding my project start date of March 2017.

Eva,
I think this is a very detailed assessment, and is a good attempt to compare the Decision Tree to previous documents.

I've added a few comments to the document, using track changes. They are mostly just my thoughts, and you're free to delete them if you wish.

Let me know if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

Line 68 still has this language

"Ongoing updates as field data become available. Modeling to date by the AF has not been sufficiently documented to allow an independent check on the results. The Regulatory Agencies technical team has sent a list of these deficiencies to AF."
